OUR VISION
We seek a world of hope, tolerance and social justice, where poverty has been overcome and people live in dignity and security.

CARE will be a global force and partner of choice within a worldwide movement dedicated to ending poverty. We will be known everywhere for our unshakeable commitment to the dignity of people.

OUR MISSION
CARE’s mission is to serve individuals and families in the poorest communities in the world. Drawing strength from our global diversity, resources and experience, we promote innovative solutions and are advocates for global responsibility.

We facilitate lasting change by:

• strengthening capacity for self-help
• providing economic opportunity
• delivering relief in emergencies
• influencing policy decisions at all levels and
• addressing discrimination in all its forms.

Guided by the aspirations of local communities, we pursue our mission with both excellence and compassion because the people whom we serve deserve nothing less.

OUR CORE VALUES

• We respect and value diversity
• We respect, value and seek to enhance local capacities
• We value and support gender equality and women’s empowerment
• We recognise and value the professionalism, skills and experience of our staff, and their contribution to institutional learning and development
• We value CARE’s dynamism, adaptability and resilience
• We value the support of our donors and program partners
• We value the operational freedom that stems from being a not-for-profit Australian agency independent of any religious or political affiliation. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, ethnicity, age, religion or politics
A MESSAGE FROM OUR CHAIR

Colin Galbraith, AM
Chair CARE Australia

“ It is an honour to assume the role of Chair and a privilege to be part of the story that began with Malcom Fraser’s vision. ”

All at CARE Australia were saddened to hear of the death of our founding Chairman, the Rt Hon. Malcolm Fraser, AC, CH, on 20 March 2015.

Through CARE Australia, Malcolm put Australia at the forefront of emergency aid in countries around the world. He wanted to create the Australian face of overseas aid, believing that we had the responsibility, and the technical and financial capacity, to assist those in need, especially at times of disaster.

Malcolm was Chair of CARE Australia during some of the world’s worst humanitarian disasters, including the Iraq War, the famine in Somalia, the Bosnian War and the Rwandan genocide. His hands-on approach and selflessness placed him in the midst of major crises. Accordingly, he was able to see and understand the suffering of people caught in these disasters, clearly enhancing his capacity to advocate with world leaders on their behalf and to support staff in their relief efforts.

As Chair of CARE Australia, Malcolm established CARE’s work in Papua New Guinea, Iraq, Jordan, Yemen, Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar and Vietnam to undertake long-term activities to improve the lives of the poor including, in particular, women and children.

Malcolm will be remembered by all at CARE Australia as an inspiring humanitarian and fearless defender of human rights who cared deeply for both Australia and for those living in poverty around the world.

Malcolm’s legacy continues through the dedication of our staff who work to help people around the world through life-changing projects and emergency assistance.

My thanks to all our staff for their outstanding service and commitment, and of course, to the thousands of supporters and partners of CARE Australia who provide both resources and inspiration for us to reach millions of people in need.

Finally, I would like to take this opportunity to send my sincere thanks to Harold Mitchell, AC, for his leadership, commitment and energy during his five years as Chair.

For me, it is an honour to assume the role of Chair and a privilege to be part of the story that began with Malcolm Fraser’s vision.
There can be no better way to start this message than with a heartfelt thank you to all our supporters. Without you, we couldn’t have achieved what we have.

As I think back over this past year, the terrible impact of Cyclone Pam in Vanuatu in March, swiftly followed by major earthquakes in Nepal in April and May, both stand out for the misery caused to so many people and for the generous response from the Australian public. I am really grateful that your support enabled us to reach many people in both these countries, helping to meet their immediate needs and staying on to assist communities to rebuild. I hope you will read about the difference you helped to make on page 16.

This Annual Report marks the end of our five year strategy. On pages eight and nine you will find some key information on progress against the various targets we established. I am particularly pleased with the progress we made in applying CARE’s knowledge of women’s empowerment and gender equality across all our programs. The research is clear: removing discrimination against women and girls is critical to our vision of a world where poverty has been overcome. I am also pleased to tell you that we continue to improve our finance, IT and asset management approaches, making modest but strategic investments where there is a clear return on our limited resources.

Over the five years, in line with our strategy, CARE Australia staff have been active within the CARE International family and within development networks in Australia and the region. These partnerships are fundamental to increasing the impact of our work. Thanks to you, funds donated by the Australian public have grown 62 per cent over the five years, enabling us to invest in more programs for greater impact.

We have been pleased to continue cooperation with the Australian Government Aid Program which funds a range of our activities. It was disappointing to see further, significant cuts to the aid program during the year. These cuts reversed the scale up of aid started by Prime Minister John Howard and mean that Australia now gives the lowest proportion of aid in its history. As one of the wealthiest countries in the world, other nations expect Australia to do our fair share in solving global problems like extreme poverty. Indeed, as a country which has grown wealthy through trade, we have a lot to gain from the growing global prosperity which our aid supports.

I hope you will enjoy reading this report. Please do feel free to contact us with any feedback, we love hearing from our supporters.

Gail Kelly
CARE Australia Ambassador for Women’s Empowerment

CARE Australia does extraordinary work to help those in need.

I love the fact that women and girls are at the centre of their focus, as they are the largest source of untapped potential in the world. It is unacceptable that so many women and girls living in poor countries around the world face violence and inequality, holding them and their communities back.

In my capacity as CARE Australia’s Ambassador for Women’s Empowerment, I have come to understand the deep value of CARE in the lives of many women, especially those supported by the organisation. These women have told me how, before CARE came into their lives, they felt utterly invisible. They had been told, and treated as if, they didn’t matter. Since being involved in CARE projects, they have become leaders who understand their own value. They have told me of their pride and sense of worth.

Thanks to your support of CARE, women’s lives and communities are improving.

I hope for a day where all girls are able to attend school, along with their brothers. I stand with CARE to support women to have dignified work, access to bank accounts and to hold positions of influence in their communities, just as their male counterparts do. I join you in supporting CARE to continue to overcome poverty with an approach that ensures the voices of women and girls are heard, along with those of men and boys.

Thank you again for your support.

Gail Kelly

ABOUT US

CARE International

CARE is an international humanitarian aid organisation fighting global poverty, with a special focus on working with women and girls to bring lasting change to their communities. As a non-religious and non-political organisation, CARE works with communities to overcome poverty by supporting development and providing emergency relief where it is most needed.

CARE was founded in the USA in 1945. Initially an acronym for ‘Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe’, CARE sent food aid and basic supplies in the form of ‘CARE packages’ to post-war Europe. As the economies of the war-affected nations recovered, focus soon shifted from Europe to the challenges of the developing world.

Today, CARE is a confederation comprised of 14 national members – Australia, Austria, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany-Luxembourg, India, Japan, Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Thailand, the UK and the USA – forming one of the world’s largest independent, international emergency relief and development assistance organisations.

The national agencies operate independently but work cooperatively under the CARE International Board and Secretariat, based in Geneva.

CARE Australia

CARE Australia was established in 1987. Under our founding Chair, former Prime Minister, the Rt Hon. Malcolm Fraser, AC, CH, CARE Australia grew through the 1990s and developed a reputation for delivering timely and effective disaster assistance and development programs to those in need.

Today, CARE Australia manages projects in 23 countries in the Asia-Pacific, Middle East and Africa, and responds to humanitarian emergencies. We also manage seven of CARE International’s Country Offices – Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, Papua New Guinea, Timor-Leste, Vanuatu and Vietnam.

Our Work

CARE works with communities to address the underlying causes of poverty, empowering them to increase their income, improve health and education services, increase agricultural production, build appropriate water supply and sanitation systems, and address child malnutrition. Our work is performed in cooperation with local partner organisations and government agencies.

CARE is particularly focused on women and girls because they are disproportionately impacted by poverty. We know that one woman who rises from a life of poverty will bring four people with her, so empowering women and girls is an important priority for CARE Australia. By ensuring women’s voices are heard and helping to remove barriers to women’s participation in society, we can bring lasting change to poor communities.

Funding

We rely on the generous support of the Australian public to fund our work. We build on this support by attracting additional funds from institutional donors such as the Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) and the United Nations.

Accountability and Accreditation

To ensure accountability and transparency, CARE Australia retains management and contractual responsibility for the projects we undertake. We are an active member of the Australian Council for International Development (ACFID) and ensure that ACFID Code of Conduct training is completed by all staff. We also ensure internal procedures and reporting guidelines adhere to current regulatory and legislative requirements. We uphold the highest standards of practice, as demonstrated by our commitment to the:

- ACFID Code of Conduct
- Code of Conduct for the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement and NGOs in Disaster Relief
- Sphere Humanitarian Charter and Minimum Standards
- People in Aid Code of Good Practice
- Fundraising Institute of Australia’s Principles & Standards of Fundraising Practice.

CARE Australia holds full accreditation status with the Australian Government’s Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT). This reflects the Government’s confidence in CARE Australia’s professionalism, accountability and effectiveness. We are one of only six non-government organisations preapproved by DFAT under their partnership agreement to use their funds in response to an emergency.

Feedback

We welcome feedback on this report or our operations and conduct. Please send any feedback to Company Secretary, CARE Australia, GPO Box 2014, Canberra ACT 2601. Complaints relating to a breach of the ACFID Code of Conduct by an ACFID member can be made to the ACFID Code of Conduct Committee via www.acfid.asn.au/code-of-conduct/complaints-and-compliance-monitoring

Throughout this report:

CARE International or CARE – refers to the entire CARE International organisation consisting of 14 confederate members working under a global secretariat, and 80 country offices where local staff and partners work to deliver programs with poor communities.

CARE Australia – refers to CARE’s operations in Australia and the seven Country Offices we manage, as well as programs and emergency responses supported by Australian funding.
As Founding Chairman, Malcolm Fraser established CARE Australia as part of the CARE International network of humanitarian aid organisations. He was Chairman for over 13 years until 2001, President of CARE International from 1991 to 1995, and its Vice-President until 1999.

CARE Australia staff had enormous respect for Mr Fraser, who used his influence to mobilise the international community to meet the needs of those affected by humanitarian crises. Many remember him raising the unfolding Rwandan genocide with Nelson Mandela and other African leaders at Mr Mandela’s inauguration as President of South Africa, and for challenging the African leaders to intervene and stop the bloodshed.

Staff who worked with Mr Fraser said he demanded excellence – he did not want to know why something could not be done, but how it could be done. He constantly pushed for CARE Australia to do more, to meet the real needs of the people we serve, and to be efficient in how we use the resources entrusted to us.

Mr Fraser will be remembered by all at CARE Australia.

“CARE got in my blood”

– RT HON. MALCOLM FRASER, AC, CH
MALCOLM FRASER, THE POLITICAL MEMOIRS
Over the past five years CARE Australia has achieved significant outcomes against four major goals.

RESULTS

GOAL 1
DELIVER QUALITY PROGRAMS WITH DEMONSTRATED IMPACT IN REDUCING POVERTY

Helped an average of 3.1 million people annually across 23 countries

Rapidly responded to an average of 10 humanitarian emergencies each year

90% of our long-term programs focused on women’s empowerment, while also benefiting entire communities

Over the past five years we have introduced important new approaches to enhance our programs. Our projects are designed within the framework of long-term programs, which helps ensure individual projects are clearly linked together under specific long-term goals for lasting change for those we seek to assist.

Our Women’s Empowerment Framework is applied in our programs so that we work with women and men, boys and girls, to bring about change at the individual, social and structural level. The purpose of this framework is to ensure women and girls enjoy the same economic, social and health freedoms and opportunities as their brothers. We have seen a steady increase in the proportion of our projects setting women’s empowerment as explicit objectives, from 30 per cent in 2010/11 to 63 per cent in 2014/15.

Through our Program Quality Framework we have established clear processes and roles for more effective programming. We worked with CARE International on a major assessment of CARE’s impact in the Asian region over five years, and we have updated our approach to evaluations in order to better capture information on project results.

GOAL 2
WE WILL HAVE EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

81 CARE staff took part in Leadership Development

Our Staff Leadership Development Program provided training to 81 staff from Australia, Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, Timor-Leste and Vietnam.

We made significant progress against our Information and Communication Technology Strategy, refreshing IT infrastructure in Timor-Leste, Laos and Papua New Guinea. The stability of Country Office email systems has been significantly improved after moving to a centralised hosting environment and we established an IT disaster recovery site in our Melbourne office.

We increased productivity across our accounts, cash management and travel processes by implementing system guides and better use of IT resources.

Safety and security self-assessments were undertaken in all Country Offices, and specific training has been undertaken for Country Office Safety and Security staff to develop skills and share best practice. Critical incident/crisis management training was also undertaken with the Senior Management Team and other key staff in Australia.

GOAL 3
SIGNIFICANT INCOME GROWTH

Over five years our objective was to double our funds raised from $10 million to $20 million restricted and unrestricted cash donations from the Australian public, per annum. We didn’t reach this goal but gratefully achieved a 62 per cent increase between 2010 and 2015 to $16.2 million.

CARE Australia has a longstanding relationship with, and is fully accredited by, the Australian Government. We are one of ten Australian Non-Government Organisation (NGO) Cooperation Partnership agencies and one of six Humanitarian Partnership Agreement agencies.

We actively engaged with the following CARE International groups: Program and Operations Committee; Finance Directors Group; Human Resources Working Group; ICT Working Group; Transition Planning Team; Program Team; Communications Working Group; Brand Working Group; South Sudan Crisis Emergency Response Advisory Committee; Gender Network; Advocacy Committee; and Poverty, Environment and Climate Change Network.

CARE Australia has co-convened the ACFID Gender Equity Working Group, leading this sectoral constituency of gender experts. We also hold secretariat responsibilities for the Parliamentary Group on Population and Development, a valuable cross-party forum involving parliamentarians with interests in issues around reproductive health and empowering women to have the same social, economic and educational freedoms as men around the world.

93,836 active supporters
Maintained an average
88.8 cents in every $1 going to our programs overseas
over the last five years

Over the past five years we expanded our donor base and connected with thousands of new supporters across Australia. Key relationships with major brands – from The Body Shop to Qantas, Thankyou Group to Target – helped CARE Australia connect with new audiences and build our supporter network.

Over the past three years, CARE Australia secured 20 per cent of media coverage for the aid sector, ensuring the voices of those in poor communities were heard over 127 million times. Throughout the last five years, we continued to ensure the significant majority of our funds went to our overseas programs.

WATER: ZIMBABWE WASH

Safe water, sanitation and hygiene (WASH) are particularly important to women and girls in Zimbabwe.

Recurrent droughts since 2002 have impacted water availability, increasing the distances that women and girls must travel to collect water and putting them at a higher risk of sexual violence and abuse while walking.

Thanks to the Australian Government’s aid program and our partner Thankyou Group, CARE Australia is running a four-year project providing secure access to clean water, effective sanitation facilities and safe and sustained hygienic behaviours for up to 20,000 people in the Chivi District of Masvingo Province in Zimbabwe.

One of the achievements of this project so far is the establishment of the Water Point Committee in the Chivi District. Set up to help monitor the local borehole, the Committee makes minor repairs, keeps the borehole clean and accessible, protects it from cattle, and coordinates with local government to organise any major repairs.

The committee also received training in health and hygiene, such as understanding waterborne disease.

“After the project we understand that the toilet should be built down from the borehole, and not from the upper direction” said Virginia, one of the members. “We were also taught to fence off the borehole.”

For women like Virginia, improved access to clean, safe water closer to home means less sickness from waterborne disease, less time spent collecting water, and more time focusing on the things that will improve her life such as education, farming and earning an income.

EDUCATION: CAMBODIA EDUCATION FOR ETHNIC MINORITIES

In Cambodia, CARE Australia is supporting thousands of primary school students from ethnic minorities to benefit from bilingual education. This means they are better equipped to make the transition to learning in Khmer, the national language, at secondary school. Ethnic minority students still comprise only 25 per cent of secondary school enrolments.

The overall transition rate from primary to secondary education is the lowest in the country.

Thanks to the Australian Government’s aid program and generous Australians, this project is improving access to quality primary and secondary education for ethnic minority children, especially girls, and supporting a positive and lifelong engagement with learning.

By introducing primary school students to education in their mother tongue before transitioning them to instruction in the national language of Khmer, the educational standards and opportunities of ethnic minority children have improved.

As a testament to its success, the CARE-designed bilingual model of instruction has been replicated across five neighbouring provinces by the Cambodian Ministry of Education, Youth and Sport (MoEYS).

This project is currently:

- 2,100 school children are gaining access to clean water through rehabilitation and upgrading of boreholes
- 250 new toilets are being built for female-headed households in 75 communities
- 75 communities have obtained “open defecation free” status
- 100 school support committee members and youths in meaningful participation in school management
- Training 200 PRIMARY & 190 LOWER SECONDARY teachers to demonstrate culturally-appropriate teaching in Khmer and ethnic minority languages
- Providing health and hygiene training at lower secondary school boarding houses
- Developing eight social issue books (such as on sharing household responsibilities between males and females) to form the basis of an improved life skills curriculum
- Community-based builders have been trained in the construction of toilets
- Providing library management training for lower secondary school teachers
- CARE Australia worked with communities to develop and publish textbooks, reading books and teachers’ guides in ethnic minority languages to support the bilingual curriculum in Grades 1-3
EMERGENCY READINESS: VANUATU

Taking action against climate change and planning before the next disaster occurs is a proven approach in saving lives and assisting communities to recover faster. It also creates a stronger and more resilient society, and the benefits spread across regions.

CARE Australia is working with communities to prepare for and mitigate the impact of disasters, by partnering with local groups to provide immediate assistance when an emergency hits, as well as working with survivors to aid in recovery after the crisis has passed.

Thanks to donors including the Australian Government, Australian public and international partners, in Vanuatu, CARE Australia is helping communities grow resilient and disease-resistant crops. We are also conducting soil, pest and ecosystem management training to strengthen and protect access to safe water.

In addition, we are helping communities to prepare their own disaster management and training plans, particularly involving communication systems in remote and rural areas.

Through CARE Australia’s disaster readiness training, communities understood what to do when cyclone warnings were issued to communities such as Imaiyo, on the island of Tanna when Cyclone Pam was on the way. The Imaiyo community followed the disaster plans they had made, ensuring all community members (including the elderly, children and people living with disabilities) prepared by stockpiling food, strengthening roofs and taking shelter in the strongest buildings.
Our experience has shown us that people living in poverty are the most exposed to the effects of natural disasters, conflict and disease. That’s why we continue to deliver emergency aid to survivors to help them rebuild their lives.

When disaster strikes, CARE takes action immediately. We provide life-saving aid including food, shelter, clean water, hygiene products, toilets and sexual and reproductive health services to those who need them most.

CYCLONE PAM

On 13 March, Cyclone Pam devastated Vanuatu, affecting over 188,000 people.

The category five cyclone was one of the worst storms ever to hit the region. According to the United Nations, an estimated 80 to 90 per cent of structures and buildings across the country were either damaged or destroyed.

CARE Australia launched an immediate appeal to provide emergency relief and support long-term recovery. Efforts were focused on those hardest hit, including the communities of Tafea Province in the south.

Since the cyclone hit, thanks to the generosity of Australians, CARE has reached over 17,000 people with emergency relief supplies.

Families in need have been provided with emergency aid including shelter kits, hygiene kits, blankets, baby clothes, dignity kits, solar lights and mosquito nets. Emergency food packages containing portions of canned fish, rice and eggs as well as drinking water were also provided across 20 islands.

CARE is still responding to the needs of vulnerable people in some of the most remote areas of southern Vanuatu.

Approximately half of the population in this area is still in need of assistance, with a major challenge being access to food after crops were destroyed. To help tackle this, CARE has distributed drought-resistant crop seeds and is providing farming training and other support to help communities get back on their feet.

NEPAL EARTHQUAKES

On 25 April, a magnitude 7.8 earthquake hit Nepal around 80 kilometres from the capital Kathmandu. Just two weeks later, the country was rocked by a second major magnitude 7.3 earthquake.

More than 8,500 people lost their lives. Over 20,000 people were injured and more than 700,000 houses were damaged or destroyed.

The fast-approaching monsoon season put additional pressure on the urgent need to provide assistance.

Women and children have been the most affected by the earthquake.

Many women in rural areas no longer have access to healthcare with health centres and access roads destroyed. CARE is distributing reproductive health kits that include safe birthing kits, essential medicines and supplies for birthing attendants.

By the end of the year we reached 50,000 people in need.

“I am very surprised and thankful that I am still alive.”

MANGAL, NEPAL
Since conflict broke out in March 2011, more than 12 million people are in need inside Syria and a further four million have been forced to seek refuge in neighbouring countries.

To date, CARE has helped more than one million people in Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Turkey.

Women and children make up three-quarters of the refugee population.

Turkey is now the largest refugee-hosting country in the world, and CARE is coordinating with the Turkish authorities and other organisations to provide the newly arrived refugees with food, blankets, clothing and hygiene items. CARE aims to assist 30,000 refugees in Turkey.

In Egypt, CARE is assisting refugees, particularly those at risk of sexual gender-based violence, providing legal and psycho-social support as well as transition shelter in emergency cases. CARE has reached 15,200 Syrian refugees in Egypt so far.

More than 1.18 million Syrians are currently seeking refuge in Lebanon. Of these refugees, 55 per cent live in poor shelters, such as informal tented settlements and substandard buildings.

CARE is providing support through improving living conditions at informal tented settlements, rehabilitating substandard houses, and advocating for support within the donor community.

Syrian refugees are also being assisted with basic needs such as cash assistance, food parcels and World Food Programme vouchers, and access to water and sanitation. Over 150,000 Syrian refugees in Lebanon have been assisted so far.

In Jordan, CARE is working with those living in urban areas who need support to pay for basic living costs including rent and food. We also run vocational and livelihood training programs in collaboration with government and local partners.

We have reached more than 580,000 people in Jordan, providing cash assistance, essential relief items and vital information on how to access healthcare and social support. In April, a vaccine campaign resulted in more than 370,000 children under five being vaccinated against polio.

"Even if the situation improves in Syria, my house has been completely destroyed. Where will we return to?"

FAYEZ, AZRAQ REFUGEE CAMP

CARE is a leader in responding to emergencies with a special focus on gender.

When an emergency occurs, CARE prioritises assessment of the different ways men, women, boys and girls are affected.

CARE’s Gender in Emergencies Advisor, Isadora Quay, visits situations where we are taking action to help people in emergencies. For example, in northern Kurdistan, Iraq, gender analysis offers insights into the kinds of issues likely to arise when populations are being hosted.

“In a camp of around 2,000 families living in makeshift tents, women don’t feel comfortable leaving their tent unless they’re in the company of an adult male,” Ms Quay said. By ensuring toilets are in close proximity to living areas, women and girls can feel safe to access sanitation.

Other areas covered by gender sensitive programming include issues of access, participation, decision-making and protection guidelines.
CLIMATE CHANGE & RESILIENCE

The impact of climate change is particularly severe for the world’s poor. Climate change magnifies the risk of disasters everywhere, particularly in those parts of the world where people are already poor and vulnerable, where extreme weather events tend to occur. Development gains are undermined and communities are increasingly susceptible to floods, droughts and changes in seasonal patterns of agriculture.

CARE Australia works with communities around the world to find appropriate local techniques to reduce the impact of climate change. This helps communities equip themselves with the knowledge and means to bring immediate benefits and build their resilience to longer-term changes and external shocks. CARE also looks to minimise the environmental impact of our own operations.

Evaluations in the past year have looked at our work in different locations, including DFAT-funded projects on Community Based Adaptation in our region.

With partners including WaterAid, CARE Australia implemented a project in the Liquica district of Timor-Leste with a focus on resilience to the impacts of climate change. Project activities included promotion of climate-resilient livelihoods such as crop diversification. It also supported conservation farming, improved access to clean water and sanitation, and reduced risk from erosion and landslides.

Positive impacts from the project included enhancing food security and climate-resilient agriculture as well as water supply and water management outcomes. Across the 20 sub-villages, water access, management practices and sanitation improved substantially.

Conservation farming practices were adopted such as:
- integrated pest management
- contour farming
- crop covering.

Climate change awareness was raised amongst villagers and government partners, reinforcing community capacity to deal with climate change. Positive outcomes such as these also support future work at a community-level.

In Papua New Guinea, CARE Australia worked with the remote Nissan District community to increase adaptive capacity and resilience to existing hazards as well as the impacts of climate change. Three years on, an evaluation has found greatly improved food security and organisation capacity in the district, as well as progress in more equal relationships between men and women, boys and girls, at a household level.

The project trained core groups who spread the gained knowledge of climate-resilient practices throughout the islands. Core group members adopted, on average, five out of seven promoted farming techniques, with other islanders adopting nearly four out of seven.

The number of food-insecure months has reduced from seven in 2011 to four in 2014.

Participants also reported stronger community capacity and collective action, with the establishment of core groups having positive spin-off effects on other community groups – particularly those with a strong overlap (women’s groups and church groups). The project also had a strong impact on empowering women to speak up in the community.

Without a shift to weather-resistant farming techniques, and a more sustainable agricultural model, children would be at a greater risk of hunger and malnutrition.

LYDIA HANNA,
CARE AUSTRALIA
OUR OPERATIONS

CARE Australia is committed to reducing its environmental footprint and in 2009 set ourselves an ambitious target of reducing our emissions by 40 per cent. We are pleased to have exceeded this target, reducing our net emissions by approximately 66 per cent compared to our 2009 baseline.

We achieved this by:

- collecting data on our emissions
- investing in ways to reduce our waste to landfill, such as purchasing more recycling bins and composting organic waste in our Canberra office
- purchasing offsets for the majority of our flights and ensuring the energy used in our Melbourne and Canberra offices includes a green component
- improving energy efficiency in our offices, such as by replacing broken lights with LEDs, and purchasing more environmentally-friendly office supplies
- reducing domestic air travel and company vehicle use
- encouraging staff to do more to reduce pollution, such as participating in Ride to Work Day, tree planting, and distributing Green Tips as a regular part of the staff newsletter.
LOOKING AHEAD

Despite massive strides to overcome extreme poverty around the world, many people are yet to benefit from the $70 trillion global economy. There remain pockets of poverty in South-East Asia and extreme poverty is still widespread in South Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa. More than one million people live in extreme poverty in Papua New Guinea, and the island nations of the Pacific are particularly vulnerable to cyclones and the effects of climate change. Conflict in North Africa and the Middle East has seen decades of development destroyed and displaced millions of people. Globally almost 60 million people have been forcibly displaced from their homes. Although we have made great steps, there remains a need for humanitarian action and equitable development.

From 2015 to 2018 we will focus on three goals to support our vision for a better, more just world:

1. Ensure excellence in programs and operations so resources create lasting impact for poor communities.
2. Engage Australians in CARE’s work and be recognised as a leading trusted agency tackling global poverty, gender inequality and humanitarian response.
3. Develop an agile organisation that fosters excellence and innovation.

As part of the CARE International global network, we also operate to the CARE 2020 Strategy. Our expected impact by 2020 outlines the changes that we would like to see in the world and where we can add the most significant value, given our identity and experience. By playing our key roles and applying our approach in all programs, CARE is committed to:

- reaching 20 million people affected by crisis with life-saving humanitarian assistance
- supporting 50 million poor and vulnerable people to increase their food and nutrition security and their resilience to climate change
- helping 100 million women and girls exercise their rights to sexual, reproductive and maternal health and be free from violence
- assisting 30 million women through economic empowerment.

As long as there are people in need, CARE Australia will continue to provide support in a timely and relevant manner that helps them to achieve health, dignity and a life free from poverty. Although there is always more work to be done, we are confident we can improve the lives of millions more people in need by growing our organisation and forming partnerships and alliances that widen our reach.
AUSTRALIANS IN ACTION

Thanks to you, our supporters, we can reach millions of people to improve their lives. Thousands of Australians share our commitment to strive for a world where poverty has been overcome and people live in dignity and security. Our supporters are our family. We are united in our passion to make a difference.
Education and Speaker Program

Since 2012, CARE Australia’s Development Awareness Raising program has engaged tens of thousands of people on global poverty issues through activities at public events and a speaker program for schools, community groups and workplaces.

CARE speakers travelled to urban and rural schools and community groups for presentations on climate change, humanitarian emergencies, human rights, empowering women and girls, and how these are all important actions to end poverty.

Global Poverty: A Teacher’s Toolkit was launched in February. The site contains facts, lesson plans and activities, essay questions, videos and case studies. It provides all the information students need to learn about global poverty. The toolkit complements the Australian school curriculum and can be applied within schools across the globe.

Walk in Her Shoes

In many developing countries, women and girls have to walk long distances each day to access food, water and healthcare, leaving little time for education or paid work. Walk in Her Shoes is a fun event, allowing participants to gain sponsorship and meet their set distance over a week, raising funds for CARE Australia.

Prizes were offered by generous partners such as Virgin Australia, Fernwood Fitness and Simone Perele.

The challenge raised over $850,000 to support CARE Australia’s life-changing projects.

Thanks for Caring Campaign

Ten years on from the Boxing Day tsunami, we partnered with Cricket Australia to thank Australians for helping with disaster recovery.

Thank you letters from India, Indonesia and Thailand were hand-delivered to cricket fans at the Boxing Day Test. We also wrote to our supporters who donated to the tsunami appeal ten years ago to say thank you. With thanks to Cummins&Partners, the campaign was an award-winning success, receiving Mumbrella’s award for best Pro Bono Campaign of the Year.

We also extend our thanks to Wonder, Milk Money TV, Mitchells, Toyota Australia, John Deere, and Australian Paper.

Event and Volunteer Program

At the heart of CARE’s volunteer program is a community of people sharing information about poverty and CARE’s work.

All up, the program has exposed a total of 590,000 people to CARE’s messages.

Media

As a response to CARE’s immediate action assisting the people of Vanuatu after Cyclone Pam struck, Australian media spread the news of our work to an audience of more than 31 million people. We gained 39 per cent of aid sector media for the period.

Advocacy

At the heart of CARE’s work globally is an approach that supports sustainable change. Whether this be changing the minds of men and boys to support women’s participation in the workforce, changing laws to protect more women from gender-based violence or changing garment factory management practices to support their workers’ skills training and negotiation for better conditions, we seek to facilitate the situations that help people reach better opportunities. The reason we take this approach is because, as we call it, it ‘multiplies impact’. When people are empowered with skills, supportive relationships and constructive policy environments, they are able to help themselves and their communities with positive impacts that extend far beyond the aid project itself.

CARE’s advocacy to the Australian Government is based on demonstrating the evidence from our work on the ground. Through decades of experience working directly with communities, we share our successful approaches, effective innovations, and the voices of the people we strive to support.

CARE Australia also hosts the Secretariat to the Parliamentary Group on Population and Development, supporting their work to promote gender equality and sexual and reproductive health rights.
During the reporting period, there was an overall reduction in staffing numbers of 3.7 per cent.

This overall reduction was largely due to a combination of an increase in our expatriate staff as a result of expanding our Vanuatu office for our Cyclone Pam emergency response, and also a reduction in national staff due to the completion of some projects, decreased funding, organisational restructures and an increased delivery of projects through partners.

Volunteers

Throughout the year, we were fortunate to benefit from 25 volunteers performing 550 days of work in our Melbourne and Canberra offices, representing a contribution of $103,131 in in-kind services. Volunteers supported CARE’s work in research, advocacy, post-emergency preparedness planning, program quality, media and campaign activities.

Some 200 volunteers contributed to events such as the Thanks for Caring campaign, WOMADelaide and the Victorian Fair Trade Festival.

Internationally, four volunteers were hosted in our Country Offices through our continued partnership with the Australian Government’s Australian Volunteers for International Development program.
Performance Management

Strengthening performance management across CARE Australia continued to be a key focus of our People Action Plan.

During the reporting period we extended our Performance Management Framework to cover all CARE staff, including locally-engaged staff in the Country Offices that we manage on behalf of CARE International. Training in the Annual Planning and Performance Appraisal process (APPA) toolkit has been completed with the national Human Resources (HR) Managers. We undertook a number of initiatives including incorporating a performance management component in our Leadership Development Program.

National Staff Engagement Survey

We undertook our first Engagement Survey of local staff in Country Offices managed by CARE Australia. Some 730 out of 840 local staff responded to the survey (395 hard copy and 335 online) giving an overall participation rate of 87 per cent. Initial analysis indicates an overall engagement score of 84 per cent which places CARE Australia-managed CARE International Country Offices in the Best Employer category.

Staff Development with a Leadership Focus

Building the leadership capabilities of our senior and middle managers continued to be a priority during the year. The senior leadership team focused on enhancing their performance at both a personal and group level. Phase two of the Leadership Program focused on strengthening middle management leadership capacity across the organisation. The program comprised of several elements; a 360-degree feedback survey, formal learning over a four-day program, and finally applying the learning on the job. Two four-day programs were held, and overall a total of 42 staff participated in the program, representing 83 per cent of the target audience.

The national HR Managers attended a four-day training workshop in Bangkok, Thailand. HR Managers were provided with an opportunity to network with their HR peers; exchange HR resources, ideas and initiatives; enhance their strategic and global awareness of HR; and to increase individual HR capacity, skills and knowledge.

The training focused on Organisational Development; effective Performance Management; Reward and Retention strategies; and Talent Management and Succession Planning.

Human Resources – Minimum Operating Standards

The Human Resources Minimum Operating Standards for national staff HR management and the common HR Policy Manual template for national staff have been institutionalised across all CARE International Country Offices managed by CARE Australia.

Gender and Diversity

CARE’s second Gender and Diversity Week ran in late November to celebrate and raise awareness of gender and diversity within the workplace and broader community. Staff took the opportunity to reflect on our social norms, both personally and as a group. We also encouraged staff to think critically of ways CARE could improve the way we address poverty and social injustice with the understanding of the impact that discrimination (relating to gender, age, ability, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation and identity, etc.) has on the communities in which we work.

Health, Safety and Wellbeing

CARE continues to monitor the workplace health and safety of its staff through its administrative processes. The Health and Safety Committee (HSC) met to review preventative measures including the completion of biannual workplace inspections and workstation assessments. A total of 25 workstation assessments (17 in Melbourne and eight in Canberra) were completed. This includes both comprehensive assessments and precautionary basic assessments. There were ten Injury/Accident Notifications reported, with five of these progressing to claims for Workers’ Compensation. Only one of these remains open. In addition to the five compensation claims during the reporting period, two ongoing claims from previous years were finalised during the year.

These claims relate to a range of injuries including sprains and work-related illnesses. The majority were finalised after a short duration.

Injury/Accident Notifications and Workers’ Compensation claims are reviewed and monitored regularly by senior management.

STAFF PROFILE: ISADORÁ QUAY

Australian-based Gender in Emergencies Advisor Isadora Quay has been working with CARE International for three years.

During a humanitarian emergency, Isadora is one of the first people to deploy. She conducts assessments to understand how women and girls, boys and men are each affected by the situation so that CARE can then provide them with adequate support.

“An emergency affects people in really different ways and we need to understand how they are being affected. For example, a pregnant woman will be affected differently during an emergency than an old man. CARE is committed to creating a process to respond to needs effectively. A focus on gender is about men and women, boys and girls and ensuring that everyone gets appropriate assistance.”

CARE’s Board

The Board of Directors is responsible for directing CARE Australia’s activities towards achieving our vision and fulfilling our mission while living the core values.

The Board is responsible for approving CARE Australia’s strategic direction, monitoring its implementation and fulfilling stakeholders’ expectations. It is accountable for CARE Australia’s overall performance, compliance with relevant laws, codes of conduct and ethical standards and for the oversight of its risk management. The Board endeavours to ensure that CARE Australia, its directors and employees conduct themselves in accordance with the highest ethical standards and consistently with its core values.

The Board is comprised of 11 independent, non-executive directors who serve on a voluntary basis without remuneration, with the exception of reimbursement of reasonable expenses incurred in undertaking Board activities. Directors are drawn from a broad cross-section of the Australian community with a diversity of experience and skills. The Board ensures that its performance, experience and skills base are reviewed and renewed appropriately.

The Board appoints the Chief Executive and delegates the operational management of CARE Australia to her with the powers, authorities and delegations determined by the Board.

Board Committees

The Board appoints Committees to assist in the discharge of its obligations, consider issues referred and delegated by the Board and make recommendations. The Committees regularly report to the Board.

Risk Management, Fraud and Corruption Control

The Board is responsible for the oversight of material business risk and is assisted in this role by the Finance and Audit Committee and the International Programs and Operations Committee. Management has developed and implemented a risk management framework, which underpins CARE’s Risk Management Policy, whereby material, operational, financial and compliance risks are regularly assessed, monitored and managed.

The Organisational Risk Management Committee is a standing management committee. Members are appointed by the Chief Executive because of their leadership roles within the organisation and their unique familiarity with their area’s risks. The Committee supports Board sub-committees by continuously assessing our risk management strategies to ensure that they remain current with regulatory, operational and legal changes as well as our business objectives.

Our Fraud and Corruption Control Plan is accompanied by a Policy Statement issued by our Chief Executive that clearly sets out CARE’s zero tolerance approach to fraud and corruption. We are committed to maintaining a culture of honesty and opposition to fraud. The plan sets out the steps to ensure that we understand, prevent, detect, investigate and respond to fraud and corruption.

Reserves Policy

Our Reserves Policy specifies that reserves need to be retained to safeguard CARE Australia’s operations. This policy balances the need to protect our financial security while simultaneously ensuring flexibility in meeting the development and humanitarian challenges of operating in a dynamic global environment.

Treasury Policy

Our Treasury Policy sets out CARE Australia’s financial risk management framework and addresses operational, liquidity, interest rate and foreign exchange risks. The policy notes that CARE Australia faces a wide range of financial and commercial risks, and outlines those risks and how we will manage them.

Investment Performance

CARE Australia takes a conservative approach regarding banking and the investment of our reserves. Myer Family Company manages our investment portfolio in line with the approved investment strategy under the oversight of the Board’s Finance and Audit Committee. During the year we reviewed our Investment Policy to ensure it remained relevant, given the current and forecasted Australian and global economic conditions. Our investment objectives include achieving a return of CPI plus three per cent on our investments in order to maintain and improve the purchasing power of our capital and to benefit from our tax-free status.

Investment Performance Against Objectives

Since inception the portfolio has maintained its purchasing power and benefited from CARE’s tax-free status. The objective of CPI plus three per cent was met over the last year. Since inception, the CPI plus three per cent objective was not met due to the exposure to equities during the global financial crisis.

As long as there are people in need, CARE will continue to provide support in a timely and relevant manner that helps them to achieve health, dignity and livelihood.

FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

OPERATING RESULT
CARE Australia recorded an overall surplus of $4.2 million in 2015, reflecting:

- an underlying operating surplus of $1.5 million, largely driven by a significant increase in income from bequests;
- a net unrealised foreign exchange gain of $2.5 million due to the depreciation of the Australian dollar exchange rate and CARE Australia’s policy of converting grant funds to US dollars for allocation to our programs at time of receipt;
- a fair value gain of $0.2 million on our investments with Myer Family Company.

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM – 5-year trend

- Other income
- Grants-AusAID
- Community Support

Analysis

Total revenue increased by ten per cent in 2015 to $65.2 million, due to a large unrealised foreign exchange gain and increased donations from the Australian public and grants from overseas and other Australian organisations. Overall total revenue has increased by 32 per cent over the last five years.

CARE has been investing to grow our donor base and secure ongoing income from the Australian public. Revenue from the Australian public increased by two per cent from last financial year.

CARE also continues to be successful in securing funding from institutional donors due to our solid reputation as an agency that delivers quality projects and programs. This is reflected in an overall increase in grant revenue by seven per cent from last financial year.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES – 5-year trend

- Accountability and administration
- Fundraising costs
- Program expenditure

Analysis

Total expenses increased by three per cent to $60.9 million in 2015, reflecting sustained growth in program expenditure over the last five years.

Expenditure on overseas programs was $52.9 million in 2015 and has seen the continuation of aid delivery in South Asia and South-East Asia, the Middle East, the Pacific, Papua New Guinea and Africa. 2015 also saw CARE respond to the earthquake in Nepal, Cyclone Pam in Vanuatu, the Ebola outbreak in Africa, the Syrian refugee crisis and provide emergency assistance in South Sudan.
ACCOUNTABILITY MEASURES

Program expenditure ratio is the total amount spent on our overseas programs, including program support costs and community education campaigns, expressed as a percentage of total expenditure.

Analysis – Our program expenditure ratio remained at a high level, with a five-year average of 89 per cent. This reflects CARE Australia’s ongoing investment in programs and program support.

Fundraising ratio is the balance of revenue from the Australian public after deducting the amount spent on public fundraising expressed as a percentage of this revenue.

Analysis – The increase in the cost of fundraising ratio between 2011 and 2013 reflects the three year strategic investment in donor acquisition pursuant to a decision made by the Board in 2010. This enables CARE Australia to have greater funds available in the future for our international aid and development work.

Cost of administration ratio is the total amount spent on administration and accountability including non-monetary expenditure, expressed as a percentage of total expenditure.

Analysis – Our administration costs remain low, with a five-year average of four per cent. This reflects CARE Australia’s ongoing commitment to maintaining control over administrative costs and changes in the allocation of cost recoveries on project grants.
SUMMARY FINANCIAL REPORT

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR’S REPORT ON THE SUMMARY FINANCIAL REPORT

The accompanying summary financial report, which comprises the balance sheet as at 30 June 2015, the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and cash flow statement for the year then ended and related notes are derived from the audited financial report of CARE Australia for the year ended 30 June 2015. We expressed an unmodified audit opinion on that financial report in our report dated 16 October 2015.

The summary financial report does not contain all the disclosures required by Australian Accounting Standards. Reading the summary financial report, therefore, is not a substitute for reading the audited financial report of CARE Australia.

Directors’ responsibility for the Summary Financial Report
The Directors are responsible for the preparation of the summary financial report in accordance with the ACFID Code of Conduct requirements.
